We welcome the public to join us for our events and programs, including art travel, museum and gallery tours, and visits to private collections, which all help to support our community outreach initiatives in Chicago and beyond.

Mr. Metzner joined Sotheby's in 1997 after working as the Director of Fine Art for Leslie Hindman Auctioneers since 1993. Previously, he was Director of Hokin Kaufman Gallery in Chicago. He is a generalist in paintings, prints and sculptures from Old Masters to Contemporary painting. Mr. Metzner can be seen on Chubb's

Survey some of Chicago's most stimulating galleries in this expanding art hub. Beginning at Rhona Hoffman Gallery, discover work by Robert Heinecken (1931-2006), one of the most important American photographers. Working in Los Angeles, Heinecken manipulated large scale advertising and commercial imagery to investigate themes of sexuality, the media, and the nature of desire, creating images that continue to be fresh and relevant. Next, at Volume Gallery, see gorgeous art glass and sculptural light fixtures by Brooklyn artist Thaddeus Wolfe. Wolfe uses fractured glass to create richly colored assemblages that refer to architecture and modern art. At Document Gallery, explore experimental photographs by Brazilian artist Geraldo De Barros (1923-1998), who juxtaposed strong geometric shapes, color contrasts and nature.

Maggie Ledbetter's personal collection

Maggie Ledbetter, April 3, 2019

Visit a collector who bought her contemporary Roscoe Village home because of a window that “provided back-up for one of my prized paintings.” Maggie has over 100 art works, and although she makes art herself, she sees her collection as her more serious art endeavor. Her collection includes oil and acrylic paintings, ink, graphite and marker drawings, collages, photographs and prints. She has several works by four of her favorite artists, painter Katherine Lee from Santa Fe, Filipino-American artist Florencio Yllana, now living in Brazil, Alfredo Zagaceta, a mystical painter from the Peruvian Amazon jungle and Thelonious Stokes, a young Chicagoan creating art about social justice.

Nicole Gordon, April 10, 2019

Delve into the vivid, richly detailed world of this artist in our visit to her lovely North Shore home. Her work recalls the “magic realism” movement of the 20th century in her realistic and impeccable style of painting imaginary people and objects. At first glance, Nicole’s paintings seem playful but a closer observation reveals darker stories. We’ll find out how the artist balances raising three young children with a very active life of creating and exhibiting work, and how family life contributes to her ideas.

EXPANDING VISIONS, CONTINUED

Mary Bendix

Mary Bendix, April 17, 2019

Open to series registrants only.

Visit an intriguing artist and collector who has transformed her beautiful apartment in a Streeterville high rise building into a virtual installation work of art. Mary collects buttons, jewelry, feathers, beads, fabrics and manikins from estate sales to make extraordinary sculptures, boxes, fans and dolls, often with a feminist edge. She intersperses her sculptures with collections of outsider figurative sculptures, Haitian beaded banners and sophisticated narrative paintings. Her collection includes works by Roy De Forest, Ellen Lanyon, Lee Godie, Howard Finster, David Sandlin, Tony Fitzpatrick, Pedro Friedberger, Roger Brown, Hollis Sigler and Mary's mother, Claire Prussian.

Corey Postiglione and Kathie Shaw, April 24, 2019

Explore the work of a married couple who share a studio in Ravenswood's Deagan building. Corey Postiglione (our brochure cover artist) has pursued abstraction throughout his career, creating intellectually rigorous works inspired by late modernism. Diverging from modernism in its content, his art symbolizes issues in contemporary life. Trained in photography, painting and interior architecture, Kathie creates photographs and paintings that seek to juxtapose nature, the built environment and fleeting time. Corey will tell us how his work as an art professor and critic influenced his art, and Kathie will talk about her former experience as a gallerist.

Kathie Shaw

Chicago Mosaic School, May 8, 2019

Find out how mosaics are created at one of the premier centers for Mosaic arts education in the United States. Meet Karen Ami, the Founder and Executive Director of CMS and a former President of the Society of Mosaic Artists. Having trained and studied in Italy, Ecuador, Costa Rica, Mexico and Ireland, she will tell us how she brings her international interests to the center. In addition to visiting the workshop spaces, we'll discuss an exhibit and meet visiting artist Verdiano Marzi, a venerable Italian artist who leads annual workshops at the school.

To register for programs, email info@artencounter.org or register through the mail with the form on page 14. Visit artencounter.org for details.

Nancy and Sandy Richman, May 22, 2019

Delight in a charming collection of fine art and craft both indoors and outdoors at this lovely North Shore home. See a colorful and whimsical contemporary collection of artists reflecting Chicago and favorite vacation destinations spanning Mexico, Thailand, the Southwest and West Coast. The tranquil garden highlights colorful sculptures, lending an air of a more temperate climate. We'll view enamel, beaded purses, Turkish saddle bags, ceramics, bronzes, mobiles, porcelain glass and paintings.

Nancy Rosen, May 29, 2019

If you've watched the delightful Netflix comedy, Grace and Frankie, you are familiar with this artist's work. Frankie, played by Lily Tomlin, is a colorful artist creating beautiful large scale expressionistic paintings, mostly figurative, all of which are Nancy Rosen's! We'll investigate the different emotions portrayed in her richly layered, mixed media works on hand-made and exotic papers, linen, and rice paper. We'll learn about her artistic processes, and also how paintings by a nice girl from Chicago became an important element of a Hollywood series, now in its fifth season.

Nancy Rosen
